“ She was one of my childhood and adult best friends, her and a few others, especially my best friend and her boyfriend Mathew Batta we spent almost everyday and night together Matt died a few months back and following him a few months later Melissa. Words nor any amount of my tears can describe how broken I am inside now other the loss of my most need and always there friends that became my family, we became family to each other. I miss you both and I hope that whatever there's is after this life brings the two of you back together, the Gods know you two loved and still and always will love each other. I miss you guys R. I. P. Melissa & Matt I love you both
